Fifteen New Spring Styles in R. & G. CORSETS

Surely There Is One for Every Figure

Some women go through life with bad figures, not because they wear poor corsets, but because they wear the wrong style of corset.

A safe rule to follow if a woman would have a good figure is

The Right Model of the Right Corset

Have you thought the R. & G. Corset may be quite likely the right one for you? The proportions of R. & G. Corsets have been carefully calculated.

Each corset is cut with care. Every bone has been inserted in just the right place.

In order to get the right model the expert attendants in this corset store will help you choose the correct one of the fifteen models.

Corsets for the young girl, the large woman, the athletic girl, the singer, the dancer, the housewife—and so on ad infinitum. A model for every woman.

$3.00 R. & G. is with low bust and long skirt, with an elastic band at bottom of back—splendid for average and stout figures.

Mrs. Henry Willis, who has been spending a few weeks at the Grafton, has left for Charleston, S. C., to visit her daughter, Mrs. Julian Wilcox, whose husband has command at the marine barracks.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ramsay gave one of the most interesting receptions of the spring season last night at Fairmont Seminary, with Mrs. Burleson, wife of Postmaster General Burleson, in attendance. The spacious rooms, given over to the company, were adorned with American beauty roses and pink and white snapdragons. The hostess and Mrs. Burleson received in the large drawing room nearest the assembly hall, where later in the evening Mr. Atterton Brownell of New York read selections from his play, "The Usen Empire."

Mrs. Ramsay was beautifully kowled in white lace and a light flowered brocade, and Mrs. Burleson wore silver beaded black tulle.

Assisting in the reception, the ladies taking turns in the line, were the Commissioner of the District and Mrs. S. D. Jones, Mrs. Ollie James, Senator and Mrs. John Sharp Williams, the Misses Williams, Miss Agnes Hart Wilson, Miss Fernie Ragsdale, Mrs. Slayden, wife of Representative Slayden of Texas; Mr. and Mrs. John J. Eason, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Groves, Mrs. T. De Witt Talmage and Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander of Los Angeles, Cal., who have been spending the season at Washington. The presence of the senior class, who will be the graduates of the exercises tonight, and the graduates of the University of the seminary, wearing violet caps and gowns over their pretty party dresses, was a charming feature of the hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. McLeary of New Hampshire avenue gave a delightful party on Monday evening in honor of the fifth birthday anniversary of their little son, Lester Claude. The house was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the table decorations, cake, resplendent with roses and violets interlarded with silver candies gleamed in the light of the five candles. Games, music and stories were enjoyed and silk flags were given as favors. Mrs. Henry Mayer and her and toys at their little party and the dining room. Among those present were Anna Mayer, Hortense Zuberano, Mildred Cooper, Elsie Bucklin, Annie Louise Shea, Marie and Eleanor Herzog, Charles Cooper, Henry Herzog, Henry Charles, John Mayer, Isidore and Benny Posner and sister and Frederic McLeary. The little host received many pretty and useful gifts.

The garden party and benefit fete for the Working Boys' Home was a great success yesterday afternoon and evening. It was held in an attractive spot in the woods half way to Chevy Chase.

Mrs. Walter Bennett, president of the home, was the first to greet the patrons, who found all manner of pretty and useful articles for sale on various booths and tables for sale or on chance.

Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis told fortunes in an appropriate costume and with the attractive mystery which a gypsy tent always affords. Miss Lucia Hull and Miss Julia Calhoun served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Richard Harlow, Mrs. Arthur Lee, Mrs. Frederic Atterton, Mrs. Elliott Gowen, Miss Misses Mackay-Smith, Miss Margery Colton, Mrs. Murray Cobb and Mrs. Fleming Newbold in disposing of the goods. Mr. Victor Cushman (Continued on Tenth Page.)
